

Table with multiple columns for survey data, including school name, grade level, gender, and various psychological/behavioral metrics. The table is organized into sections for different groups of students (e.g., children's perspective, parent's perspective) and different school-related activities.